Plan Change In Names Of Many Streets

Loud Protests Expected At Public Hearing On September 16

Such street names as Esperanza, Suffolk, Santa Anita Court, Bonita, Merrill and Windsor may soon be only a memory in Sierra Madre if the local planning commission is successful in its campaign to cooperate with county planners in reducing the duplication of street names in cities throughout the county.

The commission has proposed extending the name of Mariposa across town to supplant Esperanza, Suffolk and Santa Anita Court. It would consider Bonita avenue an extension of Manzanita and adopt the latter name, substitute Twycross avenue for Merrill and change the name of Windsor lane to either Wistaria or Corazon lane.

Reasons advanced for the change are the reduction of confusion in postoffices, traffic and mapping in the county.

Those opposing the change contend that a duplication of names is insufficient reason for asking residents to give up street names to which they have become accustomed and which are an integral part of the community.

Hearing on proposed changes will be conducted in the council chamber September 16.

City To Join In Honoring Constitution

Local Organizations Plan Joint Celebration At School September 19

September, which will be celebrated throughout the nation as Constitution Month, will find Sierra Madreans taking part in one of the year's foremost events.

Under the joint auspices of Kiwanis, Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, V.F.W., American Legion, O.E.S., and Sierra Madre Lodge 408, 93rd Masonic District, a huge Constitution assembly will be held in the grammar school auditorium on Friday evening, September 19.

Lee Shippey will preside as master of ceremonies, and the speaker will be Charles E. Millikan, Los Angeles attorney, who is known as an outstanding authority on the Constitution of the United States, in Southern California. All members of the participating organizations are urged by their leaders to cooperate in filling the auditorium on that evening.

Pledge Aid To Plan For Mobilization Of Relief Clients

Sierra Madre's city council Tuesday voted complete cooperation with a plan of the County Board of Supervisors for the emergency mobilization of able bodied men on relief for fire fighting and work with the Los Angeles County Defense Committee in times of disaster.

The supervisors asked for the mobilization so that men may be quickly dispatched to forest fires for service under trained fire fighters.

Fire stations are named as the mobilization points of these emergency crews which would be developed as a semi-permanent body which could be made available to Los Angeles County Civil Defense Council in emergencies arising from any major disaster.

FOREST SUPERVISOR PAYS FINE TRIBUTE TO SPIRIT OF NEW JR. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

William Mendenhall, supervisor of the Angeles Forest, took notice of the Sierra Madre Junior Chamber of Commerce this week, paying the recently organized group of young people one of the finest compliments ever received by a youth group in this city.

Commenting to Councilman Paul Carter on the recent clean-up of Orchard Camp, Mr. Mendenhall said that the spirit of the Junior Chamber in undertaking much hard work with no thought of compensation was the finest example of civic cooperation he had ever witnessed from any young people's organization in the county.

Young Life Guard Rescues Swimmer In Canyon Plunge

Swimming instruction at the Canyon Pool really qualifies swimmers for quick action in an emergency if one is to judge from a recent happening at the Canyon Pool, when Raymond Picard, junior life guard, prevented a possible swimming tragedy.

Young Picard, who is the 13-year old son of Mrs. L. M. Evans, went into action when he observed Teddy Tarwater floundering in the seven foot water after missing an inflated innertube in a jump from the edge of the pool. The lad, evidently badly frightened at his predicament, was having an unpleasant time when the Junior Life Guard reached him and brought him out of the water.

Stress Need Of First Aid Training

Co-Operation With Local Defense Council Urged By Red Cross

Howard P. Terwilliger, Red Cross field representative from San Francisco, spent Monday afternoon here outlining plans for the stepping up of first aid, life saving and accident prevention activities in Sierra Madre during the National Emergency.

Forming of a local Civilian Defense Council focuses renewed interest on all first aid work and also on the course in home nursing which is given under the Red Cross. The Defense Council ordinance calls for the appointment of a committee capable of formulating and maintaining a comprehensive first aid program, and as the work would fall within the scope of the regular Red Cross courses, cooperation between the two bodies is expected.

Early in the autumn, James C. Harper, qualified first aid instructor, will open another first aid class for which enrollments are now being received. This is the standard adult course, open to everyone past 17 years. Twenty hours of class instruction are required in addition to a reasonable amount of supplementary work outlined by the instructor. The course includes instruction for varied types of emergency care, and is considered of major importance in the Defense Council set up.

Also in line with the program of the Defense Council, is the Red Cross course in home hygiene and care of the sick which deals largely with the promotion and protection of community health. Registrations for this course are also being taken at Red Cross headquarters. Instruction will include principals of personal hygiene, the healthful home, care of small children, and general home nursing.

All local organizations and business establishments having a number of employees will be asked to have representatives enroll for the accident prevention course for which a chairman will be appointed soon.

Chamber again went to Orchard Camp and with two days of hard work practically completed the clearing of the extremely hazardous region. All worked well under the direction of Fred LaLone, who on Saturday evening provided a roast beef supper.

On Tuesday evening the council appointed LaLone to a three-day patrol of the district from the Quarter Way to Orchard Camp as a fire prevention measure during the three day holiday weekend. LaLone will sleep at Orchard Camp, and will do additional clearing just below the camp in conjunction with his patrol work.

Ask Another Reservoir Site Here

Rapid Extension Of Arcadia Requires Much Enlarged Water Supply

Reverberations from the rapid extension of Arcadia were felt here this week as the City of Arcadia petitioned for a zone variance on North Santa Anita avenue to permit building of a one-million gallon reservoir adjacent to the present reservoir which has been in use since 1920. Hearing on the petition will be conducted by the planning commission in the council chamber September 16.

The reservoir would be located approximately 860 feet north of Grand View avenue, and south of the Santa Anita Ranger station. It would be 288.71 ft. by 172.71 ft. in diameter and would be used for storage and distribution of domestic and irrigation water. Installation of the reservoir would enable Arcadia to distribute a greatly increased supply of water without laying additional pipe lines.

Only properties affected by the variance would be in the U. S. Forest service to the north, the Lannan state on the west; and the M. T. Gardiner property on the south, and the Three Cities Land Co. on the east side of Santa Anita avenue.

Report Low Fire Loss In Last Year

Annual report of the Sierra Madre volunteer fire department places the number of fires in Sierra Madre for the fiscal year of 1940-41 at 23. Total loss to buildings was set at $250, which included five dwellings, two garages and one shed. Other calls answered were for three fires which originated in refrigerators, four grass fires, three cars, and the burning of five palm trees on Halloween.

Five first aid cases were handled, the resuscitator squad was called out once and one blood transfusion was given.

Fire drills were conducted at both St. Rita's School and the grammar school. Excellent attendance at both fires and drills was reported with an average drill attendance of 18.2 from a possible 20, and fire attendance 17.60. Maintenance cost of the department was $290.75 below the budget allowance, placing per capita cost of operation at $1.51.

Stores Will Close Over Labor Day

With the advent of Labor Day, Monday, September 1, all local stores, the Sierra Madre Savings Bank, City Hall and Post Office will fall in line with the rest of the nation and shut up shop for the day. Vacancies On School Staff All Filled

Appointment Of Two Teachers And A Secretary Are Announced

Completion of the grammar school teaching staff was announced this week by Gerald Smith, school superintendent, who returned recently from his vacation to find that one teacher who had signed a contract for the coming semester had asked to be released to accept a position in another school district.

This position has now been filled by Miss Kathryn Jane Hanks of Los Angeles, who will take over the work of Hobart McLaughlin, now with the Montevia schools. Miss Hanks received her degree from UCLA and has also taken graduate work there. She has a music major, has also appeared as piano soloist with the UCLA symphony orchestra and plays the violin and trumpet. She has also specialized in dramatic art.

Miss Hanks has served as vice president of Phi Beta, the national music honorary society, and is an Alpha Delta Gamma. At the grammar school she will teach the 7A class, 7th and 8th grade girls glee club, and will direct the school orchestra and band.

Also new to the teaching staff is Miss Adele Davidson of San Pedro who comes from the Covina school to teach the sixth grade and girls physical education. Miss Davidson is a graduate of the Santa Barbara State College.

Position as secretary to Mr. Smith has been filled by Miss Betty Mellenthin of Santa Ana. Miss Mellenthin is a graduate of Colorado College at Colorado Springs, with a major in sociology, and is also a graduate of the Denver Business College. She comes here from a Los Angeles advertising firm.

Parents are reminded by Mr. Smith that school opens September 15 and that all new students should register during the week of the 9th, any day from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

All children entering kindergarten must have reached their fifth year on or before March 1, and those entering first grade must have attained their sixth year by that time.

State Guard Unit Here Is Growing

New Enlistments Bring Sierra Madre Near Company Requirement

State Guard enlistments increased rapidly during the week, giving evidence of establishment of a complete Sierra Madre company soon. First father and son to become Guard members are E. R. Thompson and Jack Thompson. Young Thompson, a local landscape architect, has been drilling with the local platoon for some time. His father is one of the most recent members.

Other men to enlist during the last week are Hall Perry, Emile Smith, Francis A. Rivers, George Gruber, Henry Coit, Emile Strumthal, Vladimir Levasheff of this city; Lawrence Gonzales of Azusa and Donald Ernest Cook of East Pasadena.

Enlistments will be received at the city hall until a company of 90 men has been completed. This week ten additional rifles were received, and when the company is formed every man in the field will be armed.

Countries now represented in the local platoon are England, Germany, Belgium, Switzerland, Russia, Mexico and Nicaragua. Two members are native Sierra Madreans, while others represent many different sections of the United States.

Heart Attack Is Fatal To Pete Shindle

Sierra Madreans and Los Angeles friends were shocked Friday by the sudden death of John Peter Shindle of 317 North Lima street, who dropped dead in a Los Angeles parking lot. Shindle, who was 42 years old, had been associated with the Los Angeles Baseball Club for the last 15 years, following his retirement as a player. At the time of his death he was connected with the office of secretary of the club.

He assertedly became ill while driving, turned into the parking lot and had left his car to speak to the attendant when he suffered a heart attack. His body was taken to the county morgue where he was identified by William Cornell, with whom he lived on North Lima street.

Mr. Shindle had been a resident of Sierra Madre for almost ten years, was a camera and mountain enthusiast and had a wide circle of friends here.

He was unmarried and is survived by only one relative, Mrs. H. W. Moore, a sister living in Sunbury, Penna.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon in Los Angeles. Interment will be in Sunbury.

Race Track Charity Days Net Local Red Cross $446.59

Hollywood Park Charity Day netted $170.19 for the local Red Cross chapter, according to C. W. Jones, chairman. This brings charity receipts for the year to $446.59, as Sierra Madre's share of the Charity Race at Santa Anita Park was $276.40.

Monday evening Mr. Jones and Dr. Arthur O. Pritchard attended the special meeting of the Los Angeles county council held in Alhambra.

September meeting of the County Council will be held in Santa Monica, September 24, when plans for the annual roll call will be made.

Jr. Chamber All Set For City-Wide Cleanup Campaign

Opening of Sierra Madre Cleanup month September 1, has occasioned preliminary activity on the part of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the drive to improve the appearance of the village.

First step in the improvement of the downtown area came Tuesday afternoon when Junior President Warren Jones came down with a shovel and rake and soon had the small parkway surrounding the pepper tree in Kersting court ready for two flats of dichondra which will be planted before the week is out.

To finance the cleanup and beautification of the business district the Chamber will sponsor a Benefit show at the Wistaria Theatre September 11. Members will be about town working to assure an advance sellout for that night when something extra special in the way of entertainment is planned.

Renew Plea To Save Local CCC Camps

Senate Committee Men Give Assurance Of Favorable Recommendation

Declaring that authorities have stated that "serious mountain fires followed by the inevitable winter floods can do more injury to public utilities, highways, lines of communication and defense industries than would be the case in a bombing raid," Paul Carter, Sierra Madre Councilman, and grandson of the city's founder, sent supplementary data to the Truman Senatorial Committee this week, furthering the plan to re-establish the Angeles Crest CCC Camp.

Before leaving for Seattle the Committee which was in Southern California to conduct inquiries into national defense measures, gave serious consideration to Mr. Carter's communication, and Senator James Meade stated that the foothill area could feel assured of the favorable recommendation of the committee. In part Mr. Carter's communication read:

"Defense authorities agree that one of the most vulnerable points in the protection of our Southern California defense industries is through the possibility of fire and flood which could be brought about through sabotage and incendiary in our National Forest areas. Experience has taught that the most effective means of combating this danger is through the agency of CCC camps established to suppress fire danger in our forest areas.

"While the quantity of merchantable timber in the Angeles Forest is negligible, the chief value of this forest area lies in the heavy brush covering which serves to retard and absorb the rainfall frequently exceeding an intensity of one inch per hour. Loss of this brush covering through fire, results in quick runoff and devastating floods in the valley communities adjacent to the mountains and lying between the mountain and coastal areas."

In conclusion the Sierra Madre councilman said, "Due to the discontinuance of the Angeles Crest CCC base camp, a total of 200 men have been withdrawn from the protection of this area."

City Holds Allure For An Iowa M.D.

Dr. and Mrs. James M. Donegan arrived this week from Glenwood, Iowa, for their first visit here in several years and are at home to their friends at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Scoons who are vacationing in Montana. Early this week downtown business people were pleased to greet Dr. Donegan, who strolled about town declaring that Sierra Madre has lost none of its allure for him.

City Orders More New Equipment

Purchase of a new 1941, 4 cylinder Ford pick up truck was authorized by the city council Tuesday evening.

Bids were also opened for the water level and indicating system which will be installed at the Auburn avenue and Mira Monte reservoirs. Low bid of $483.50 was submitted by a Minneapolis concern. All bids were referred to the water superintendent and purchasing agent for report at the next meeting.

Tax Rate Is Finally Set By Council

Amount To Be Raised Locally More Than $3,000 Less Than Last Year

Evidencing a saving to taxpayers of more than $3000 for the fiscal year 1941-42, the tax ordinance for the coming year was finally adopted Tuesday evening by the council. The ordinance places the current amount of taxes to be raised locally at $55,313.34, or a tax rate of $1.99.

The county and school tax rates are expected to be set within a few days. Per capita taxes in Sierra Madre were $13.58 in 1939, went to $13.96 in 1940, and amounted to $12.94 for 1941, a study of local tax levies by California cities just completed by California Taxpayers' association show. Per capita levies for each of the fiscal years are based on population of the city as shown by the 1940 census, the association stated.

Total property taxes levied by the city government amounted to $63,444 in 1939; $63,965 in 1940 and $59,266 in 1941, the association found. Such property taxes are only a part of the revenues of cities as additional income is received from grants and subventions as well as from licenses, fees, fines and other minor sources.

Parking Idea Approved By Merchants

A petition signed by all business people in Kersting court approving the proposed two-hour downtown parking limit on that narrow thoroughfare but opposing elimination of diagonal parking was read at the city council meeting Tuesday evening and referred to the committee of the whole which also will investigate a proposal from Police Chief Gordon McMillan for the establishment of a city pound at the central pumping plant on East Sierra Madre Blvd.

According to the police chief it is impossible for the police department to undertake transportation of sick and injured animals to humane stations out of town in the city police car.

Recently many animals have had to be destroyed at the central pumping station. A report on the proposal is expected at the next council meeting.

Other matters which will be studied in executive session include Jim Heasley's request to be released from his lease on the Canyon swimming pool which he and Mrs. Heasley have operated for approximately 10 years, and the appointments to be made to the local committee of the Civilian Council for Defense.

Reception Planned To Honor Family Of The Postmaster

Arrival of Dr. Esther Caukin Brunauer from Washington D.C. next week is the incentive for a reception being planned by a group of Sierra Madre friends honoring Postmaster and Mrs. R. O. Caukin, and their daughters Dr. Brunauer and Mrs. Pierson B. Miller.

This affair will be given in Junior Woman's Club rooms, Wednesday evening, September 10, and will afford all Sierra Madreans an opportunity to meet Dr. Brunauer who is closely in touch with current national and world problems. Recently she was appointed by Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia to the office of Civilian Defense to build up an educational program in basic policies and issues.

Dr. Brunauer accompanied by her three year old daughter Kathryn Caukin Brunauer, is coming west to take part in the two-day conference of the Women's Division of the Democratic National Committee for the 11 Western states which is scheduled for September 12 and 13 at the Ambassador Hotel. FIRE FLAMES

By One of the Boys

As the State firemen's convention nears, much of the conversation of local firemen has to do with that event. The convention will be held in Pasadena this year and many will be able to attend who have never been to a convention before. No doubt many of the firemen from far off parts of the State will come to see what Sierra Madre looks like. Lots of them have never been in this district, though they have heard plenty about it through the exploitations of we fellows who have attended the conclaves. 'S too bad that we haven't some more up to date equipment at a time like this. "Old Snort," our oldest and most reliable truck could look a whole lot brighter if he had some new paint.

If we were to have a fire of any consequence during the convention, the visiting firemen would have to hurry to get to see it. Local residents can get there in a hurry and they usually pick out the good spots to see the sights, besides block up the streets so that not even another fire truck could get through. Under our present set-up, it is impossible to control traffic at all intersections and unless we have the cooperation of the public, this situation will at some time be the cause of serious consequences. At the last fire on Morton avenue, the curious abandoned their cars in the middle of the street, making it impossible for another car to get through and seriously interfering with the firefighters.

Jacquelin Cochran, first woman to ferry bomber to England—"In flying, women can hold their own against men. It does not require brute strength to fly a plane."

James M. Carter, State Director of Motor Vehicles—"The person who drives too slow is almost as great a menace as the habitual speeder. He impedes traffic and increases the hazard of accidents."

Mrs. Dorothy Snow, jailed draft dodger's wife, Oakland—"There isn't much to live for now. I guess committing suicide is the easiest way out, but I don't think I'll do it. Anyway not today."

John Scott, expelled Moscow news correspondent, S.F.—"If Hitler doesn't win within 60 days he is lost—not only in Russia but in all Europe."

According to recent reports by German scientists, a lighted match in a blacked-out city is visible more than a half a mile away, and the light from one window of a fully lighted room is visible for 12½ miles.

Girls Team Loses Its First Game To Glendale Champions

Performing before an estimated crowd of 300, Sierra Madre's newly formed girls baseball team went down to defeat in the recent game with the much more experienced Glendale Champions. In spite of the excellent field work of the home team the Glendale girls scored at 17 to 1 victory.

First baseman Joyce LaLone brought cheers from the folks in the stand with her masterful playing, while applause was also given to the Glendale girl who pitched a one-hit game.

Next Thursday evening, September 4, the local girls will play the Burbank Kiwanis team here. Sierra Madre's boys team has also had a run of bad luck taking a defeat of 7 to 1 from the Monrovia All Stars Friday night, when Robert LaLone was the star field player, and on Monday night losing again to a Negro team, composed of boys from several San Gabriel valley towns. The score was 4 to 2.

Triumph of the Monrovia All Stars, brings the two teams to a tie for which the playoff is scheduled tonight at the grammar school grounds.

IT'S DIFFERENT HERE

On Monday, the biggest portion of the population of this country will be joining hands to help celebrate Labor Day.

The streets of a thousand cities will ring with the tread of millions of marching men and women. Union members, rank on rank, will march behind their standard bearers, proudly aware of their numbers and of their powerful position in the economic affairs of their country.

The scene will be duplicated in hundreds of European and Asiatic cities—but the similarity will be wholly scenic. The uniformed marchers of other lands will not be celebrating anything. As for labor unions, they are as non-existent in dictator countries as they are in subjugated countries. In France and Spain and Germany and Italy, where unionists were the most active of all groups in changing the order under which they flourished, labor unions were the first to be annihilated.

Here, the black eye that labor too often exhibits to the public isn't always honestly merited in the ranks. The activities of some labor leaders reflect as unjustly on the rank and file as the unfair actions of some employers have reflected on other employees.

But on Labor Day in America, employees and employers, labor and capital, despite their differences, can get together and celebrate a way of life that has vanished elsewhere in the world.

It is a way of life that permits men to live together, giving and taking as fairly as men can. A way of life that demands respect for each other's contributions to it, and recognition of one's own responsibilities as well. A way of life that is ended for other men, in other lands, just as their road of honest, individual enterprise has ended and their light of just rewards has gone out.

The... Watch Tower

By Perley Poore Sheehan

SEEMS to us sometimes nowadays that we're living again right back in Old Testament days—and the most high God that close to earth. Abraham's God, and Melchizedek's and—our Grandfather's. We've abandoned regret. We don't regret anything anymore, neither sins nor sorrows. What is IS. But we do—just a little wistfully—think now and then how wonderful it would be if Grandfather were still with us. "The Lord hath sworn and will not repent. Thou art a priest forever after the order of Melchizedek... He shall judge among the heathen, he shall fill the places with the dead bodies; he shall wound the heads over many countries..." Somehow, that sounds just like Grandfather. He was a preacher. He used to prophesy. His first name, by the way, was Daniel.

AN old gentleman with a magnificent head. Remember some of those old religious pictures in which the Almighty Himself is shown? Those were like portraits of Grandfather; enough, at least, to cause some merging of identities in our own private meditations as a child. And who are we—or you—to say that the idea may not have had some truth in it? Children—some children—have a clairvoyance equal to that of animals. There's that line of Scott's in the Lady of the Lake: "Children know, instinctive taught, the friend and foe." Well the memory comes back to us of times when we also, like Adam, with a conscience none too good, heard the voice of One walking in the garden in the cool of the day. Grandpa! A powerful memory. Somewhat in the nature of a powerful lens—a lens to focus all Time as well as all space, here in our present Eden.

THUS, as we started out to say, telescoping so much that is going on today—in Europe, in Asia, on all the Seven Seas and Elsewhere—with all the Old Testament wars Grandfather used to preach about—and the Civil War he knew so well—which was, for him, but a single battle, anyway in a sort of everlasting Armageddon. For—this is the point we're trying to establish—Grandfather's God was a God of War as well as a God of Peace. Love God, and you'd know His mercy. But bad luck to you, brother, if your love grew cold! Grandfather was at our side the whole hour the other evening as we read an article about some Pacifists. We could hear the old gentleman snort. We could feel the prophetic rage in his heart: "And ye call yourselves teachers?—ye who suffer that woman Jezebel to teach and seduce my servants?"

GEORGE ELIOT expressed the same thought in one of her books: "There is a mercy which is weakness, and even treason against the common good." Or, since we've jumped from the Old Testament to Revelation—which was another of Grandpa Daniel's favorite authorities: "If any man worshipped the beast and his image, he shall drink of the wine of the wrath of God." Concerning which Ruskin might have written his denunciation of this same thing. In his Lectures on Art, where he calls it "one of the crowning wickednesses of this age"—that we have starved and chilled our faculty of indignation. Not long ago we came across this prayer by Milton—which his spirit may be repeating today: "O let them not bring about their damned designs... Be moved with pity at the afflicted state of this our shaken monarchy..." Milton knew indignation of the kind to make men fight.

WHICH brings to us, for a sort of valedictory, this old book—was it marked by that same ancestor referred to above? The book is Charlotte Brontë's Shirley; and for Bonaparte, read Hitler. This is it: "This summer, Bonaparte is in the saddle; he and his hosts scour Russian deserts... He marches on old Moscow; under old Moscow's walls the rude Cossack waits him. Barbarian stoic!—he waits without fear of the boundless ruin rolling on. He puts his trust in a Snow-cloud; the Wilderness, the Wind, and the Hail-storm are his refuge; his allies are the elements—Air, Fire, Water..."

OUR space is almost gone. But shall we go on for a few more lines? "And what are these?" our author asks—these elements. She replies: "Three terrible archangels ever stationed before the throne of Jehovah. They stand clothed in white, girded with golden girdles; they uplift vials, brimming with the wrath of God. Their time is the day of vengeance; their signal the word of the Lord of hosts." Then, in the margin, this quotation from Edmund Burke: "The blood of man... is well shed—for family, friends, for God, for country—for our kind. The rest is vanity; the rest is crime." America—God bless it!—could do with a little more of this old-time religion today.

Municipal Judge Allen J. Ward, Burlingame—"The State of California should furnish the traffic officers, required to enforce the new 55-mile an hour speed limit, with airplanes."

UNCENSORED

By LEONE BAXTER

The sands of summer vacations are running low, and millions of young men and women are beginning to think seriously of curricula, classes and campus activities. Many are worrying about the cost of it all and wondering how they can manage to afford the experience.

It's no use denying there is more fun to be had in college than out of it. And for the boy or girl to whom intellectual strain comes hard, it must be admitted the chief inducements to college are those which have come to be most widely advertised by the publicity departments of the colleges themselves—competitive sports, fraternity life, social affairs and other things not clearly connected with any high order of learning.

As far as going to college to be educated is concerned, President Hutchins of the University of Chicago, an authority in his field, advises that the boy who has to work his way might almost as well not enter at all.

The business of getting a university education is a full time job, he believes, requiring time for reading, reflection and for learning how to think. A student who must spend his time outside the lecture room washing dishes or working in oil stations for tuition money will have to get his education, if he gets it at all, after he leaves college, in Dr. Hutchins' opinion.

Not everybody will agree with that view. Not every educator and certainly not many "self-made" men and women who have worked for and won high places in the world with little outside help.

But every thinking person will agree with the Chicago educator's conviction that the poor boy who has real intellectual capacity and can prove it in competitive examinations, should be given every opportunity in college to develop his brain.

Good minds are needed, and good minds should be encouraged through scholarships generous enough to enable the unfurnished but serious student to escape washing dishes when he might be learning. In a free democratic school system such as ours, the one student of special talents is often overlooked in the process of giving a hundred who may never be interested in learning to think, the opportunity to try.

It happens that among this writer's acquaintances, the balance of useful citizenship seems to rest on the side of the men and women who earned at least a part of their education by their own initiative. Nevertheless, until more concessions are made in the education of the student of exceptional mental caliber and little cash, the world itself will still be the loser of possible great contributions to society.

Father Sage Says: Some use a vacuum cleaner, while others pick up their dirt over the telephone.

MARCH OF RIMES

By H. F. NOAKE

CATER TO THY PATER

Like every other growing lad I too, was smarter than my dad. His sage advice went whizzing by, for who was he, when I was I? He criticised by boyhood pals and didn't like my choice of gals, a tender hide pop often tanned for disobeying some command. My staying out 'til ten at night made father mad enough to fight; and did he sting me with a curse the time I emptied mother's purse. His heart was set on sending me through some good university; but I ignored this helpful plan and ended up a traveling man. In later years I came to learn that father's feverish concern was for his little son's success, and everlasting happiness. So, it's my hope that every lad will honor and obey his dad; and doubt it not, 'til journey's end, a father is a boy's best friend.

The joint declaration issued by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, a blue print of the program on which they "base their hopes for a better future for the world" contains a significant point which might well have been put into practice after the last war. And that is "to bring about the fullest collaboration between all nations in the economic field with the object of securing, for all, improved labor standards, economic advancement and social security." It is by now recognized that insecurity, poverty, unemployment and low living standards provide the breeding ground for dictators and totalitarian governments. Abject, disheartened people willingly relinquish power into the hands of demagogues who promise to make them and their country strong, great and fearless. The feverish, impassioned oratory of the Leader, the handsome uniforms liberally distributed—in place of bread—to even the lowliest street cleaner, the military parades and party rallies, are all devices for capturing the loyalty of subjects, giving them a sense of power, and preparing them for conquest. Today the world has learned that unemployment and poverty can be as much a threat to world peace as any conquering hungry army.

As It Appears To me

A typical California day... high morning fog and consequent coolness to relieve the recent heat, but Archie Edwards, down from his lookout station on Vetter Mountain, almost six thousand feet up, tells us that the ceiling is only about three thousand feet and that the mountains still enjoy much sunshine when clouds shut off the sun down here.

Our tallest Forester stops in and we say "Good morning, Mr. Edwards," looking down at us with his usual twinkle he responds "I'm Archie," and so begins another first name friendship. Nice too, this business of greeting people by their first names... it's friendly and informal, yet still not "chummy"... one of the pleasant distinctions which one finds in a small town.

One day soon we are going to trek up to Vetter Mountain, sit down at the lookout and just listen to some of Archie's tales. In his mind are stored dozens of authentic stories of the west... way back to the time when he was a Texas ranger, and those of us who are really of the west never tire of listening.

While our face isn't exactly flaming, it is slightly pink—and all because of the coming soap box derby. For the last two weeks we have been writing about Sierra Madre's "first" and now we find that it isn't at all. Mr. Bayard, one of the real old timers here, has brought us a page from his snapshot album, showing Al Miller piloting his 31 racer down Baldwin avenue in 1920. Chuckling at our ignorance of the town's history, Dale Langley remarks that in those days the derby was an annual event—also that some of the local boys preceded car manufacturers in introducing four wheel brakes to the Wistaria town.

Definitely on the side of local interest will be the meeting of the planning commission on September 16 when the renaming of some of the village streets will come up for approval or disapproval. Although we are among those in the "pro" campaign, we still hedge a bit at the suggested names for Windsor lane. A super sense of humor seems to have motivated the person who suggested Wistaria Lane, while Corazon, seems just too romantic, perhaps because we are thinking of some Spanish songs we have sung.

Cynicism prevailing, we have made a wager with Webster Vannier, that even the renaming of Sierra Madre streets will not have sufficient interest to bring local residents into the council chamber. It seems that practically no one cares how the town is run so long as each may be left undisturbed in his own little world. Looking at the present international lineup, one is forced to the conclusion that the embracing of such a policy eventually leads to the violent shattering of all the little worlds and the horrible bewilderment of their inhabitants. —Margaret Elason.

Sierra Madre Takes Advantage Of Free Animal Clinic

Sierra Madre pet owners are taking advantage of the treatment offered by the Memorial Free Clinic in Monrovia, which reports a substantial increase in the number of cases coming from this city, as well as Arcadia, El Monte, Temple City and Baldwin Park.

With the addition of new equipment, the clinic is now in a position of care for practically all types of animals, both large and small. Its service is extended to those unable to pay for treatment. Guide dogs for the blind from the Hazel Hurst Foundation are now being examined and treated there.

Hours for treatment are 11 to 12 each Tuesday morning and from 4 to 5 p.m. Friday of each week.

Expect Large Crowd At Townsend Club Picnic Sunday

The Sierra Madre Townsend Club is preparing for a large crowd at its picnic in the Park Sunday, the 31st, according to the president, Peter Nelson. Many clubs from all over the county have signified their intention to attend.

An interesting program will include solos by Francis Eakman, Mrs. Bessie Perry of Pasadena, and a boy's trio composed of Bob Sprehn, Wendell Sprehn and Bob Chamberlain of Sierra Madre. Mr. Eakman and Mrs. Helen Lovejoy will lead the audience in the singing of "America the Beautiful." For speakers there will be Rev. C. Ruppel of Pasadena and Rev. Paul Gardner of Los Angeles as well as Mrs. Alta Mills, president of the Southern California division of the Townsend Clubs Ladies Auxiliaries. All local organizations in this city will be given a place on the program.
